The Russia – US counterweight does not mean restoration of the Cold War situation, but rather it is an opportunity to work together to modernize global peace and security in the new world order, where the US and Russia are a permanent part of the same global political system. I believe that in case the conflicts between the Russian Federation and Ukraine continue, it's necessary to find a different way to settle the conflict which is accompanied with a new stage of political life. Firstly, I would like to suggest to American officials to "learn from their mistakes". Our country now holds the leading position in the world not only politically and militarily, but also in moral terms. In 2003, the world community was unanimous in understanding that Iraq's president Saddam Hussein was responsible for the mass killing of the citizens. And this fact is not something that can be questioned. Secondly, America needs to reflect on the mistakes that took place in the Vietnam War and how it ended, which could have resulted in the escalation 09e8f5149f
