Juan Gonzalez, 46, pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor charge of criminally negligent homicide in exchange for prosecutors dropping the more serious charge of murder, said Senior State's Attorney Andre Auge. Gonzalez will also be placed on a term of community supervision for two years, including five days in jail. Gonzalez was arrested and charged on Wednesday after his wife, Gabriela Gonzalez, 43, called police saying he shot her in the chest. It happened about 9:20 p.m. as the couple was having sex in their home in the 4200 block of Rhodes Road. Police said the couple had been arguing when the woman shot her husband in the chest. They were rushed to John Peter Smith Hospital where the woman was later pronounced dead. Gonzalez had been jailed since the shooting. Tarrant County Crimestoppers is offering a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for Gabriela Gonzalez' death. If you have information, please call Fort Worth police at 817-392-1140 or Crimestoppers at 817-371-4222.U-Net++: A Deep Learning-Based Automatic Detection System for Hepatocell 6a5afdb4c
