Murphy Method is having some confidence in yourself. It's the latter part I'm having trouble with. I'll start with something basic. I like to enter a text and send it to my phone, then immediately delete it. Only to go back and check if I've answered it. Then delete again. Then delete again. Then delete again. So after that, I send that to trash. And so on. Now, I have no idea what level of texting proficiency is considered "normal" by my peers.
