More details can be found at: 194 P.3d 716 (2008) STATE of Idaho, Plaintiff-Respondent, v. Randi G. MARTIN, Defendant-Appellant. No. 34953. Court of Appeals of Idaho. November 28, 2008. Chief Judge GUTIERREZ, and Judges LANSING and MELANSON, CONCUR. SUBMISSION ON PROBABLE CAUSE PERRY, Judge Pro Tem. This case comes before this Court on an order by the magistrate court denying Randi Martin's motion for the return of her property without an evidentiary hearing. Martin asserts that her property was seized pursuant to an unconstitutional search warrant. For the reasons set forth below, we agree with Martin's assertion that an evidentiary hearing should have been held. We vacate the order of the magistrate court and remand this case for further proceedings. In the early morning hours of July 24, 2007, a police officer observed a person whom he suspected of being under the influence of alcohol in an inoperable pickup truck in a parking lot of a shopping center. The officer pulled the pickup truck over and ordered the driver out of the vehicle, at which time the officer observed that the driver was also under the influence of alcohol. When the officer approached the vehicle to take the driver into custody, the officer saw four weapons on the front seat where the driver had been seated. Upon questioning, the driver stated that the weapons belonged to him. However, the driver stated that the truck belonged to Martin, who was in the store. The officer then contacted the store owner and asked for the owner's name. At the request of the officer, the store owner agreed to return to the parking lot and identify the owner of the vehicle. When the owner did so, he verified that the truck was Martin's and that it had been stolen. The owner then agreed to turn over the keys to the vehicle and the weapons to the officer. The weapons and the vehicle were then taken to an impoundment lot. The next day, a
