Adrien Quentin, 31, used a kitchen knife to stab Simon Ferreira, 37, to death in a brutal attack in the early hours of August 15 last year. He was held in custody until August 6, and questioned by police for the first time in connection with the murder after investigators discovered a Facebook account belonging to Mr Ferreira on his mobile phone. After searching the contents of his phone, officers found a series of conversations with people claiming to be an ex-girlfriend, her current boyfriend and her father. It was not immediately clear whether the claims were true, but investigators would not rule them out. Ferreira was travelling with his girlfriend when he was stabbed in the heart during a night out in the Italian town of Cassino, killing him almost instantly. He had stopped at a bar, left the venue and was in the street when the attack took
