ColorPick lets you easily pick a color you need by typing a code or its name into the text box, preview the color you are selecting and then copy it to the clipboard or save it to your collection. The color picker contains over 600,000 colors, and you can choose one from our built-in color palette, our custom color box or by simply typing the color code you want. ColorPick is fast, because it does not require your mouse or keyboard to be used. ColorPick is an extremely small program, because it makes use of very few components and is very easy to use. You do not need to have a mouse, keyboard or graphic card, and it is not necessary to have an installation of Windows. You can save your custom colors into a collection for later use, copy the screen color to the clipboard or paste it into your program in any format you want. If you find a color code you like and want to save it to the list, you can do that by pressing Ctrl+Shift+C or selecting the appropriate Color picker on the context menu. This way, you can also keep all of your screen colors you find on the Internet in your color collection and you can paste them into any program, a web page or a message you are composing. If you do not know the code of a color, you can use the color picker and type the color's name into the text box, and press enter to find the code. ColorPick also helps you quickly reproduce colors by adding them to the custom color boxes. To do this, just press SHIFT while the mouse pointer is over a desired color. In the Color palette you will find a special custom color box with 16 slots. Press the Add button to add your favorite color to the custom color box and press SHIFT to add it to your palette. After the color has been added, it will appear in the palette with its name and code. ColorPick is a Windows.exe app, so you can get it from this page. The free trial version of ColorPick will let you to create up to 40 custom colors. If you do not cancel the trial after the above time, you will have to buy ColorPick at a price of $25, in which case you can create unlimited colors.
