Note If a new layer is not created when you're editing the image, you can add a new layer by pressing the New Layer button in the Layers panel (Figure 1-1). Layers enable you to save two different types of files: an Image File Format (Saved) file and a Photoshop file. You use Save As to save your image in either format. Saving as an Image File Format lets you get back to a saved file at any time, while the Photoshop file can be shared and archived just like any other document. After you save your image, double-click in the layer to open it so that you

A single application of hyaluronic acid (HA) gel or a combination of HA gel and dexamethasone improves the quality of life in patients with atopic dermatitis (AD). Atopic dermatitis (AD) is a chronic, relapsing, pruritic, inflammatory skin disease. The etiology of AD is considered to be a genetic predisposition combined with environmental allergens. Effective and safe treatments are required. To assess the efficacy and safety of a single application of hyaluronic acid gel compared with a combination of hyaluronic acid gel and dexamethasone to treat AD. A double-blind, randomized, clinical trial was performed with a two-week follow-up period. The study included 23 AD patients from the Department of Dermatology, Chang Gung Memorial Hospital-Linkou, Kaohsiung, Taiwan. Eighteen patients received a single application of the hyaluronic acid gel (group A) and five patients received a combination of the hyaluronic acid gel and 0.1% dexamethasone (group B). Treatment areas of the AD patients in group A were evaluated at baseline and 1, 2, 4, 6, 8 and 12 weeks after the single application of the hyaluronic acid gel. Treatment areas of the AD patients in group B were evaluated at baseline and 2, 4, 6, 8 and 12 weeks after the combination of the hyaluronic acid gel and 0.1% dexamethasone. The efficacy and safety of the interventions were assessed using the objective SCORing Atopic Dermatitis (SCORAD) index and the patients' self-assessment of AD (ASAD) scores. The SCORAD index significantly improved in both groups A and B ( $P = 0.001$ ). The ASAD scores improved significantly in both groups A and B ( $P = 0.001$ ). The use of a single application of the hyaluronic acid gel is as effective as a combination of the hyaluronic acid gel and 0.1% dexamethasone to treat AD.[The influence of cigarette smoking on small bowel obstruction]. The influence of cigarette smoking on the development of small bowel obstruction was studied in 209 patients admitted to the Department of Surgery of the Medical School in Freiburg. The following items were checked: the patients smoking habits, tobacco abuse and period of time after the patients' last cigarette before the surgical treatment. Among the patients who
