x64 .Q: How do I make a list of the last n rows that have been added to the database? For example, if I have 200 rows in my database and need to fetch the latest 200 rows, how can I write a query that does that for me? A: This will get you the last 200 rows added to the database (in the current time slot): SELECT * FROM database.table ORDER BY last_insert_id DESC LIMIT 200; If you want to fetch the last n rows, that is simple too: SELECT * FROM database.table ORDER BY last_insert_id DESC LIMIT n; If you want to fetch all the newest rows, you can use as multiple ordered sub-queries: SELECT * FROM database.table WHERE last_insert_id > (SELECT max(last_insert_id) FROM database.table); Or, since postgres allows correlated sub-queries, that is simple too: SELECT * FROM database.table ORDER BY last_insert_id DESC LIMIT (SELECT max(last_insert_id) FROM database.table); This is conducting a traffic stop Thursday night when a man jumped in front of their car with a knife in hand. The incident happened shortly after 10:45 p.m. in the 500 block of Westgate Place. Officers were attempting to stop a black BMW for speeding when the man, later identified as Daniel Smith, 44, of Charlotte, fled the car.

Witnesses told police that Smith ran into the backyard of a home and started stabbing a small dog that was in the yard. One witness said he saw Smith

The European Court ruled that Northern Ireland’s use of the ‘gallows’ in 1971 was unlawful, and thus the Bloody Sunday shootings – in which 13 civilians, including Catholic nationalist James Wray and Protestant loyalist Bobby Sands, were killed by the British army - constituted the single worst act of state-sponsored murder in British history. It was a stunning rebuke to the British government, yet politically it was a bad day for those who believed in a united Ireland, because it opened the way for Sinn Féin's landslide election victory in the Republic. The ruling led to the end of the Troubles, but all sides took full advantage of what it represented. Sands became the godfather of the peace process and O’Riordan emerged as the nation’s pre-eminent music star – even if her politics were marked by doubt. A few years later, a benefit gig at O’Riordan’s family home in Ballymun became the occasion for a barney between the singer, who was a Democrat, and some of the musicians on the bill, who were members of the Republican Movement. An irate O’Riordan stormed off, demanding to know why they weren't all born in Co Donegal, while the musicians demanded to know why their accents "smelled of the Limekilns". When O'Riordan let slip she was from Clonakilty - only six miles away - and, since she couldn't bear to be short-changed on a gig she had built up for herself, she changed her mind. Not a

"Three Bridges. . VICTORVILLE: A man was arrested on suspicion of murder after a shooting at a home on the 1800 block of Trailhead Drive, according to the Victorville Police Department. The man, whose name was not immediately released, appeared in a Victorville courtroom Wednesday morning, where he was charged with murder and attempted murder. He was accused of shooting a 17-year-old inside the home and a 20-year-old outside before a neighbor called authorities. The 17-year-old was found dead inside of the home, while the 20-year-old was flown to a hospital, according to Victorville police, who said it was not yet known if he had survived.Splen
