"FIFA's unique understanding of football is rooted in real world data. Now, when you play FIFA, and use your body, you'll feel a more natural sense of movement compared to ever before. We're delivering that 'hyper-boost' in FIFA 22. "The official ball control and player movement in FIFA 2K22 will be 'hyper' to help you feel more connected and agile on the pitch. You'll feel the impact as you interact with the ball more naturally, but even if you don't, the ball will move in a more unpredictable and exciting manner, based on the conditions and match flow. "You can think of it like an engine that responds to the way you move. The new engine will allow you to move, hit and dribble the ball more naturally, whilst the ball reacts the same way regardless of the actual input. So, if you drive the ball through your opponent, or use a 50/50 pass to look for a shot on goal, you'll feel it in the same way whether you just ran up to the ball or received a perfect through ball. "The natural touch and feel that feels more intuitive and responsive on the pitch will help you tell the difference between a good pass or dribble. When you play 'FIFA,' not only do you feel the ball and bounce more naturally, but you'll feel more connected and agile on the pitch. "We've also made improvements to how players react to each other as you run down a sprint, tackle or hold your ground. If you make a tackle, or pass the ball, you'll feel the back-pedal or push-back, without slowing down the action in any way. As players move closer to you, the game will get faster. "In FIFA 2K22, we've also made adjustments to the movement of players around the field as the game wears on. The speed of the ball increases the longer the game goes on. The more you have players around you, the more frenetic the game will become. "It's important to stress that these improvements are not a core gameplay change. They're not about how the ball moves or feels to manipulate the ball to make things easier on the player. We've improved these features so you'll
